

[Publication] Examining the Authority of California's Attorney General in Health Care Mergers

In a report just published by the California Health Care Foundation (CHCF), The Source's Sammy Chang, Tim Greaney, Katie Gudiksen, and Jaime King examine the California Attorney General's merger review authority and compare it to those of other state AGs. As state antitrust enforcement can be used as an alternative to federal enforcement, the team suggests expansion of the AG's oversight of health care mergers to address the escalating scope and impact of health care industry consolidation.

Download the report "Examining the Authority of California's Attorney General in Health Care Mergers" here.